

COURSE

The MOO-VE IT 5K course will take runners on a tour of recent Downtown development. The course will begin on Bay Street, near the base of the Main Street Bridge and just one block west of the Cowford Chophouse. Runners will pass the restaurant, turn left to run on Newnan Street, then run west toward the stadium district. After a short loop around Baseball Grounds of Jacksonville, runners will hoof it down Duval Street, pass the 3-mile mark on Adams Street, and finish strong at the Cowford Chophouse.

RACE INFO

This family-friendly event will consist of a one-mile fun run to begin at 9:30 a.m., a 5K at 10 a.m., and a post-race block party on Bay and Ocean Streets, which will include music, beer, and food for race participants. Additionally, silver and gold level sponsors will be honored with a VIP rooftop brunch reception after the race.

Medals will be given to all participants, and top finishers will be recognized at an award ceremony. Each participant will receive a race bag with specialty items from our sponsors.

ENTRY FEES

- $35 early bird registration (through February 24)
- $40 the week before the race (February 25 through March 2)
- $45 day of race
- $25 1-mile fun run

PROCEEDS

The MOO-VE IT 5K will benefit the Delores Barr Weaver Policy Center. The Delores Barr Weaver Policy Center is a local nonprofit that engages communities, organizations, and individuals through quality research, community organizing, advocacy, training, and model programming to advance the rights of girls and young women, especially those in the justice system. Funds will specifically go to the Policy Center's Open Doors Outreach Network, which connects newly identified victims of sex trafficking to a team of professionals, including a highly trained survivor mentor who works in collaboration with law enforcement and community partners at every entry point where a victim is identified.
